Glioblastoma (GBM), is the most common, and aggressive of primary brain tumors. In the United States alone. Approximately 18,000 people are diagnosed with GBM every year. Almost 1 in 5 tumors that start in the brain are Glioblastomas. Men are more likely to get them than women, and chances go up with age. Glioblastoma, is a devastating disease for both patients and caregivers, and despite available therapies, prognosis is extremely poor. The majority of patients do not survive for more than two years following Diagnosis, and the median survival is generally less than a year. The average 5 year survival rate is less than 3%

Meet Barb Rajchel. In 1985, Barb was an active 21 year old young woman, totally immersed in living life and making plans for the future, when she began to feel dizzy and unsteady on her feet at different times of the day. She decided it was time to see her doctor who recommended further testing. Nothing could have prepared Barb and her family for the devastating diagnosis; she had a non-cancerous brain tumor. Following surgery and 30 treatments of radiation over a period of six weeks, Barb was back to "normal" life. Fast forward 28 years later, which encompasses a ton of great memories, including marriage to a great man and 4 wonderful children, Barb began having severe headaches and a few memory lapses over a period of only a few months. Testing revealed a brain tumor that was diagnosed as a GBM or Glioblastoma. After two surgeries and several different types of radiation and chemotherapy, Barb succumbed to the disease in 2014. We wouldn't be here without Barb. It was her determination to bring awareness to brain cancer that brought our group together, and it is her memory and the memory of all those who have battled brain cancer courageously that keep us motivated to bring and end to brain cancer

OUR COLLECTIVE GOAL FOR THIS 5K....

We are doing this for others who may have this disease. We want to bring awareness to this type of cancer, GBM is a deadly disease, and one very few people hear about. This year we have partnered with (UPCI) University of Pittsburgh Cancer Institute to donate funds to support brain cancer research.
